

---

Website design in Torbay

Posted by Penn - 2007/12/16 22:51

---

De you need a website building? Have you been quoted hundreds, if not thousands of pounds? Well, I may be able to help. I specialise in no-nonsense, no-frills, straightforward websites. My websites are fairly basic, they are well put together and easy to navigate, but most importantly, you can find them on the search engines. A lot of designers pay too much attention to what the website looks like and not enough attention to SEO (Search Engine Optimisation) if nobody can find your website, what good is it? I can design new a website that will suit your needs, I will also pay a lot of attention to search engine optimisation. Unlike a lot of companies, I carry on messing around with websites I have designed until people can find them on the Internet, I don't just abandon them once I have been paid. I pride myself in building websites that show up on the search engines

Follow the link below and have a look at my website. Have a look at the few examples I have given you, all of them can be found on Google, a lot of them on the front page..

Http://www.Pennwooding.com

Post edited by: Penn, at: 2007/12/16 22:53

=====